CANTERBURY .- The Canterbury is still in full blast, and will continue so, as the energetic proprietor thereof, will put on the boards none that first class artists and good pieces. Go to night and see for yourself the array of beauty and talent there congregated.

GROVER'S THEATRE.-Fourth night of the great tragedy and comedy combination. Tonight the only time positively, of the great drama of the "Iron Mask." which was written expressly for Mr. J. W. Wallack, and which lately had a run of eighteen consecutive nights in Boston. To-morrow evening benefit of Mr. E L. Davenport, when will be performed "William Tell," and "The Scalp Hunters." ODD FELLOWS' HALL .- Only two nights more of the celebrated Sanderson's Minstrel Troupe, with their wit and humor, and song and dance. The dancing is capital and the singing excelleat. Go and enjoy yourself.

MEETING AT THE REPUBLICAN ROOMS .- Last night another meeting was held at the Republican Rooms, on 9th street, which was largely attended. Mr. Clephane occupied the chair and Mr. T. B. Brown acted as secretary.

Before the meeting was called to order a number of persons who had left Parker's Hall after the Democratic Association had adjourned sine die, came up in front of the hall and amused themselves by cheering for McClellan, but no act of violence was committed by them, and after a little while they left the neighborhood.

The Chair stated that "our Democratic friends had satisfied themselves as to the result, and had yielded up their hall." [Ap-Mr. James A. Wise (of 7th street.)-Does any one knew who holds their funds?

A voice.—They hadn't any. [Laughter.] Mr. Wise stated, in regard to the proposed Union celebration, that he did not see any reason why a torch-light procession should not be gotten up. He did not see why every man in the District should not help to celebrate the election of Abraham Lincoln. It was no use for Washingtonians to cling to slavery when slavery was sead. Those who had drawn the sword against the Administration must perish by the sword; for our Saviour says, "Whosoever shall draw the sword must perish by the

Mr. Wise was at Rockville on election day, and saw how things were going on there. The young men voted for Mr. Lincoln. An old man voted the Democratic ticket, and his four sons all voted against him-they were tired of slavery, and he believed the young men everywhere were tired of slavery. He told of a woman there who, the day after the new constitution was adopted, placed her slaves in a four-horse wagon and sent them to this District, as she said, "for Father Abraham to take care of." In his opinion she had better have kept them near her, as she will find it impossible to work her farm, which ultimately, she will have to sell out to white farmers. He moved the appointment of a committee to make arrangements for a suitable demonstration on Monday night next.

The Chair stated that arrangements had already been made for a demonstration on Thursday night, (to-night.) The club will assemble at 7% o'clock, and proceed to the President's, and the members of all Union clubs were invited to join. It would not, however, be a torch-light procession, for out of 600 torches belonging to the club but 30 could be found. Mr. Dorsett asked if the club would follow the example of the Democrats and adjourn sine die, or was it proposed to keep up the or-

Mr. Plant moved that when the club adjourn it be to meet at the call of the president and executive committee. Mr. Wise moved that the association meet once a month until after the June election. The club should help to carry the city for the Administration and Government, and he urged that the organization be kept up. He quoted the scriptural account of casting out devils, and said that the club should cast out all devils at the next election. Mr. A. C. Richards said it seemed that the object of the club had been accomplished in the election of Abraham Lincoln. It was out of the question for the club to attempt to operate in a municipal election, for nineteen out of twenty of the citizens of Washington were opposition men. As for keeping up the meetings, they should look back four years, when the very devil got inth the club after the election. The question was taken on Mr. Wise's amendment: and it was lost. Mr. Plant's motion was agreed to. Mr. Wise asked how much money was on

The secretary replied, "I have $11, and have paid the treasurer $140." Mr. Wise, (not having heard the latter part of Mr. Brown's remark.) - Eleven dollars that all Mr. Brown .- Yes, eleven dollars. Now you give one, and that will make twelve. [Laugh-

Mr. Wise addressed the meeting, urging the members to give and have faith. "By their works ye shall know them." Mr. Brown here presented a subscription paper, and asked Mr. W. to show his faith by his works; and Mr. W., seeing that the laugh was against him, promptly complied. Mr. W. continued his speech some time longer, and most of the required amount was raised.

Rev. Mr Gaylord, Chaplain of Campbell Hospital, was introduced, and made an eloquent congratulatory address on the result of Mr. Wise followed Mr. Gaylord, and remarked that one reason why the citizens of Washington were not better friends of the Administration was on account of their treatment. The District had been taxed, and they had paid their taxes, and had been called on for troops and almost filled their quota, and the citizens stood ready to spend the last dollar and send the last man to protect the Government, that the Capitol may stand here and the Union stand until the last day. In the opinion of some, a citizen of this District was not entitled to common respect, and in one case he heard of an assistant secretary (and he was glad he was not a secretary) who stated that he would not entertain a petition from a citizen of the District. And now as the Republicans were in power again, he hoped Washington would get her rights, and that the District might be treated as a territory, at least with power to send a representative to Congress. He would work for the next four years for obtaining this right, and he hoped before they would pass we may have a representative on the floors of Congress.

Mr. Wise closed by asking if the money had been made up, and being answered in the negative, he passed around his hat. Some few election despatches, confirmatory of the previous good news, were read, after which the meeting adjourned.

THE NATIONAL DEMOCRATIC ASSOCIATION VIELDS TO THE FORCE OF CIRCUMSTANCES .-A few of the members of this association met at their rooms in Parker's Building last night, but most of the "leading spirits" were absent. T. G. Clayton, Dr. Charles Allen, Hon. Thos. Florence, Fred. Schmidt, J. W. Clampitt and J. F. Ennis, of the oratorical force of the association, were missing, as were also F. Aiken, B. W. Fenwick, T. A. Tolson, W. J. Miller, F. Ranahan, Michael Duffy, Henry Lyons, M. Marceron, W. J. Gary, J. Norris, E. Queen, and others of the front rank.

About 7 o'clock Hon. Charles Mason called the meeting to order, and stated that the purpose for which the association was organized was virtually at an end, and he desired to know if its members were willing to surrender the room to Prof. Labbe, from w. an it had

Some one suggested that the rooms should be given up, and the association adjourn sine Mr. Thomas Thornley favored giving up the room, but thought the association should adjourn subject to the call of the president. The result of the election was pretty well known, (remarked Mr. T.,) but if things should turn out more favorably the president could call them together.

Mr. Byron Tyson thought they had better get another room and continue the organization, notwithstanding the election had resulted disastrously to them. Mr. J. D. Lakenan said organization is what they wanted, for the Union Leagues kept agoing all the time. Mr. L. thought the association should get another room, and that gentlemen should not be so modest, but go into the thing boldly and work and act continually. He therefore proposed that a committee of five be appointed to procure another room.

Mr. J. F. Haliday was in favor of keeping up the association, but was opposed to running into any further debt until they had paid what they owed.

Mr. Lakenan said that if they adjourned tonight they would never meet again, and he wanted to "clinch the nail" by getting another

Mr. Geo. F. Adams concurred with Mr. Haliday and counted the cost. They now owed a great deal of money and he did not want to increase the expenses. He was opposed to a permanent organization without a guarantee that the expenses would not fall upon two or three. His past experience was that a few were compelled to meet them all.

Mr. Lakenan remarked that Mr. Adams made a good speech, but it was a little too trame," and he ought not to have appealed to the pocket.

the pocket. After some further discussion the President was instructed to give up the hall and sell the turniture, after which the association adjourned subject to the call of the President.

ARREST FOR GRAND LARCENY .- Yesterday and last night officers Tucker and Leach, of the Sixth ward, arrested Mary E. Neal, Mary T. Holmes, and Pink Jackson, Moses Black, and James Evans, colored. on a charge of grand larceny, and Ann Snowden for receiving the stolen goods. Some time ago Louisa Riley and N. P. Reed complained that their dwelling had been entered and clothing to the value of $200 stolen. Efforts were made to discover the parties, which failed. Recently the officers got a clue by discovering some of the goods and suspicion rested upon the prisoners, all of whom were arrested and locked up in the station house to await an investigation of the evidence by Justice Thompson. A small portion of the goods were recovered from Ann Snowden and Pink Jackson.

LECTURE TO-MORROW EVENING .- The lecture by the most Rev. Archbishop Spaulding, which was postponed from the 36th of Septem ber, will be delivered to-morrow evening at Odd Fellows' Hall. It will be delivered for the benefit of St. Vincent de Paul's Society. The subject will be "Philanthropy and Charity Compared." The Rev. Archbishop is an able lecturer, and the discourse will be a very instructive one. Tickets can be secured at the book and drug stores and at the door.

ILLINOIS SOLDIERS' VOTE .- The following is the vote of two battalions of Illinois troops at Manassas Junction, they being disfranchised by the Copperhead Legislature of Illinois: Commissioned officers, for Lincoln, 16; Mc-Clellan, none. Enlisted men, for Lincoln, 325; McCleilan, 21. Doubtful, 13.

ORPHAN ASYLUM FAIR .- Those who have not yet visited the fair, corner of 10th and G streets, for the benefit of St Vincent's Female Orphan Asylum, should drop in during this week and aid this laudable enterprise; the ladies will entertain you well whilst among them.
